POSITION ANNOUNCEMENT NO. 09-59F03

Position: Assistant or Associate Professor of Wildlife Ecology and Management, a 9-month, tenure track position in the College of Natural Resources.

Position Description: The successful applicant will teach up to 12 credit hours each semester during the academic year. Course responsibilities will include team-teaching introductory courses each semester as well as wildlife management techniques during spring semester. The incumbent will also develop a course in their specialty and offer occasional graduate level courses. The successful candidate will be expected to participate in advising undergraduates and to provide service to the college, university, and community. They will also be expected to maintain an active wildlife research program. Teaching at least 3 weeks during the summer at our field station for additional compensation is required when needed.

Department/University Description: The wildlife discipline is in the College of Natural Resources, and is one of the largest undergraduate wildlife programs in the North America. For more information on the wildlife discipline and other programs in natural resources at UWSP, please view the College's web site at <http://www.uwsp.edu/cnr/>.

Qualifications: Earned Ph.D. at or very near completion in wildlife biology, ecology, or management. Preference will be given to someone with demonstrated excellence in teaching and the ability to work with students in field applications and to conduct applied research. The discipline is especially interested in candidates who have a background in urban wildlife management and/or avian ecology. However, excellent candidates with other specialties will be equally considered.

Appointment Date: January 2009 or August 2009 (negotiable)

Terms of Employment: Assistant or Associate Professor of Wildlife Ecology and Management. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Application Procedure: Send hard copies (no email) of letter of application, curriculum vitae, copies of transcripts of academic work, at least 3 letters or reference, a statement of teaching philosophy, and a statement of scholarship interests and philosophy to: Dr. Tim F. Ginnett, Chair, Wildlife Search and Screen Committee, College of Natural Resources, University of Wisconsin – Stevens Point, Stevens Point, WI, 54481.

Deadline: Review of applications will begin October 15th, 2008. Position will remain open until a suitable candidate is found. For more information, contact Dr. Tim F. Ginnett at 715-346-4191 (e-mail: tginnett@uwsp.edu).
